Suspenders are Coming Back Into Prominence Again

Suspenders are coming back into hearty favor with men both young and old, according to local haberdashers, who are stocking this article of apparel, for many years almost obsolete as far as young men were concerned, in large quantities in anticipation of a heavy demand during the fall and winter months.

Since vests are seldom worn during the summer months and suspenders are somewhat warmer than a belt, the latter are impracticable during the warm season, except to the more hardened individual who is apparently not anxious to conceal the fact that he wears "galluses." But with the coming of fall and cold weather comes the demand, and dealers believe it will come many times this year for the old favorites.

The wide and long trousers of the present mode have been partially responsible for the increasing favor with which suspenders are regarded, since only by their use can a smooth, unwrinkled and perfectly hanging trouser leg be achieved, especially when low shoes are worn.

One delaer suggested that the use of suspenders saved the fat man the embarrassment of announcing his circumference every time he bought a belt.

SAYS RICHARD LOEB IS "DREAM CHILD"

HAS HAD DESIRE TO COMMIT "PERFECT CRIME."

DEFENSE SCORES HEAVY

Judge Caverly Throws Wide Open Doors to Admit Testimony Regarding Various "Mental Diseases."

Chicago, Aug. 1. — Young Dickie Loeb, who, with Nathan Leopold, Jr., kidnapped and murdered little Bobby Franks and stuck his body down a drain pipe, has been a "dream child" and a phantasy worshiper since early childhood. With his chum Leopold he has had an adolescent desire to commit "the perfect crime," so together they conceived and executed the plot in the boys' belief that they would accomplish a great intellectual feat that would stamp them as the master criminals of the century.

These conclusions were reached by Dr. William A. White, a noted pychiatrist, and put upon the records of the Leopold-Loeb trial over the constant and howling of the state's attorney who declared that Dr. White is trying to describe the young slayers as insane without actually saying so, thus affording a "litigating circumstance" that may save both boys from the gallows.

Chicago, August 1.—Judge John R. Caverly flung wide open the doors today for a dozen alienists to submit evidence of the "mental diseases, functional in character" which they say afflict both Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, and is largely responsible for their cool murder of Robert Franks.

It is upon the testimony of these alienists that the lawyers defending the two students are attempting to save them from the gallows and send them to prison instead.

After listening to hours and hours of legal wrangling over the admitibility of the alienists, Judge Caverly ruled that their conclusions could be submitted "for what they are worth."

After his decision, the psychiatrists will be allowed to testify that Leopold and Loeb are "queer," that they are dreamers, that they have disordered intellects, in short, that they are almost anything short of being mentally insane.

Movie Stars

Are Using These Rare Powders.

By Edna Wallace Hopper.

I did not intend to supply powders to women. My only idea was to furnish them my greatest beauty helps. But thousands of women have urged me, by letter and in person, to tell them the powders I use.

Like all my friends on the stage and in the movies, I use very costly powders. I have them made to my order, and they cost me $5 per box. Our careers depend on our looks, and nothing is too costly.

But I have persuaded the makers to offer these powders at ordinary prices. I order them in quantities, under my name. I offer them at my expense to girls and women who desire the best.

Now all druggists and toilet counters supply Edna Wallace Hopper's Powders. There are two kinds. For myself I prefer a clinging powder, a cold cream powder, based on my Youth Cream. It is enduring. That Youth Cream Powder costs $1. But many women prefer a light and fluffy powder. If you want that kind, it costs but 50 cents. Both kinds come in three shades—white, flesh and brunette.

So far as I know, these powders are the finest in existence. You may be sure that if anyone produced a better powder I would get it quickly. Anyone who uses common powders will gain a new conception of what powders should be.

Burlington Junction Paper 46 Years Old

(Burlington Junction Post)

This week the Post celebrates its forty-fifth birthday anniversary and the paper starts on No. 1 of the forty-sixth volume. The Post is one of the few weekly papers in this section since its founding under the same name.

The Post was established in 1876 and has been a Burlington Junction institution ever since. There has never been a suspension of more than two or three weeks in the publication of the paper, something that very few weekly papers can boast of, for back in the old days the newspaper business was one of hard work and very little pay. The paper has burned out twice, we have been told, the last fire being in 1917, when all of the files earlier than that time were destroyed.

W. H. Meredith

IS ENDORSED BY BAR FOR RE-NOMINATION FOR

Attorney General

HE LED DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET IN 1920.

MEREDITH ENDORSED BY JUDGE FRED L. WILLIAMS.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 3rd, 1923.

Hon. W. H. Meredith,
Poplar Bluff, Missouri.

Dear Mr. Meredith:

I see by the press notices that you are to be a candidate again for the office of Attorney General. I remember with pleasure our association as nominees on the Democratic State Ticket in 1920 and the splendid campaign you made for the whole ticket. Through my acquaintance with you, I am convinced that you are the type of man that the people desire to have in positions of great responsibilities and public trust, and that you are in every way qualified to hold this important office.

In 1920 you were defeated through no fault of your own but by the landslide caused by conditions wholly disconnected from the issues involved in the election of state officials.

I believe 1924 will be a Democratic year and I am glad you are willing to buckle on the armor and make another valiant fight for the principles of our great party.

Very sincerely,
FRED L. WILLIAMS,
(Ex-Justice of the Supreme Court).

W. H. MEREDITH FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The Bloomfield Vindicator has gone on record very actively in the interests of W. H. Meredith of Poplar Bluff for the Democratic nomination for attorney general.

The local Democratic organ in the current issue says: "Hon. Willis H. Meredith of Poplar Bluff was here Monday to represent the Ferguson heirs in the partition of the Moses Proffer estate. He left Monday night for New York City, where business called him. Mr. Meredith was attorney general of Missouri and had the Democratic nominee in 1920 for the honor of leading the ticket both in the primary and general election.

"Democratic custom as well as individual merit would indicate that Mr. Meredith should be given the nomination for attorney-general in 1924 without opposition. He has demonstrated his ability as a lawyer to fill the position with honor and credit, and the fact that he led his ticket in two elections in 1920 is evidence of his popularity throughout the state."—Poplar Bluff American.

Mr. Meredith has many friends in St. Francois county and adjacent counties who will be greatly pleased to know that he will perhaps again make the race for Attorney General. In his former race he demonstrated unusual strength, running ahead of the entire State ticket. He is not only a lawyer of marked and unusual ability but he is a splendid and magnetic campaigner and a high class gentleman. He is entitled to his party's nomination without opposition.—Farmington Times.

W. H. MEREDITH ENDORSED FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL.

W. H. Meredith, the Democratic Attorney General nominee in 1920, who led the Missouri ticket in 1920 by 3,000 votes and led Cox between 7,000 and 8,000 votes, was endorsed for Attorney General by the following counties, Saturday: Butler, Stoddard, Ripley, New Madrid, Wayne, Madison, Iron, Jefferson and Mississippi. The Cape County Bar Association endorsed Meredith's candidacy at a meeting and he has already been endorsed by the Bar of his home county, Butler, and by the Democratic members of the Bar of the counties of Stoddard, Wayne, Ripley, Scott, New Madrid, Mississippi and other Southeast Missouri counties.—(From Poplar Bluff Daily American, March 10, 1924.)

MOVING PICTURES

EMPIRE THEATER.

Tonight and tomorrow Poli Negri appears at the Empire Theater, starring for Paramount in "Men," a story that proves to be a great tragedy and yet ends happily. Robert Frazer plays opposite Poli Negri.

"Men" dramatizes the heartless persecutions which countless women suffer at the hands of the stronger sex. "Cleo," the role which Pola Negri creates in "Men," is the cumulative effect of the many magnificent characters she has played since she first flashed, metor-like, across the world's dramatic sky.

One night a handsome stranger attracts her attention, and for the first time the young girl experiences the emotion of love.

The stranger bribes Francois, a penniless ancient who is on intimate terms with Cleo's father, to persuade the girl to go to Paris. There she is promised a career as a dancer. By a pre-arranged accident, the Stranger appears on the same train by which Cleo and Francois go to Paris. The love interest in the Stranger ripens in Cleo's heart. In Paris, Francois receives his money and disappears, leaving Cleo alone.

An added attraction will be placed on the bill next Monday and Tuesday evenings. Pearson, Newport and Pearson will appear in acrobatic, tumbling and dancing stunts. This trio plays on the Keith circuit and is billed in New York this winter.

Frightened, Cleo accepts the Stranger's offer to take her to his sister's home where she is introduced to an elderly roue but the sister is not in evidence. The Stranger dines luxuriantly, fills his pockets with cigars and leaves by the front door, vanishing out of Cleo's life forever.

The following morning, Cleo, carrying in her lustreelss eyes the despairing expression of a lost soul, emerges from the house to which she was lured and wanders away, too stunned to care what becomes of her.

Years elapse and we find the girl has become the most famous dancer in France. Her beauty and her brilliance are universally admired. Many men contend for her favors but she is known as a woman who takes all and gives nothing. Finally, in a mood of desperate cynicism, she offers to auction herself away to the highest bidder. A wild scene follows in which some of the world's greatest fortunes are pitted against each other.

TO THE VOTERS OF NODAWAY COUNTY:

I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff for Nodaway County, subject to the Democratic voters, but on account of the weather I have been unable to make any campaign, as I am a farmer living on a rented farm, and have been unable to see as many voters as I would like to, I take this means of asking for your support at the Primary Tuesday, August 5, 1924 and if nominated and elected, I promise to give to the County of Nodaway the very best and efficient service.

Editorial in the Moberly Democrat, July 25, 1924.

GIVE NORTH MISSOURI ONE.

Unless Elmer O. Jones, of LaPlata, is nominated and elected, North Missouri will have no representative on the State Board of Equalization for four years. This is an important matter and certainly this section of the state should have representation. For some reason North Missouri has failed to come to the front with her share of candidates in the August primary. She should therefore insist that she be given the only possible candidate she can get, Elmer O. Jones for attorney-general. South Missouri, as a matter of good politics, should see the justice of giving this office to North Missouri. This is one trouble with a primary. No convention would ever name all the candidates on the state ticket from one particular section of the State. Democrats all over the state should recognize the justice and expediency of nominating Elmer O. Jones attorney-general, the only North Missouri candidate. Let North Missouri have one representative in state officialdom at Jefferson City, and she will make a better showing in the November election.

Because these banks believe in the slogan of "Clover and Prosperity." Soil fertility and bank deposits have much in common. The same law applies to both—they dwindle unless new deposits are made. More clover, sweet clover, alfalfa and soybeans in Nodaway County will increase the bank deposits as well as the fertility in the soil. These banks will be represented at the Clover and Prosperity picnics. We hope your farm will be represented, too.

New Yankton Bridge To Be Opened Oct. 15

Dream of Fifty Years Duration Is Rapidly Approaching Reality In South Dakota City.

Yankton, S. D., July 28.—A dream of fifty years duration is rapidly approaching reality here at Yankton—patient and prolonged efforts will reap their reward on or about October 15, when the new Yankton bridge across the Missouri river at that point will be formally opened to the public.

"Fifty years ago," says D. B. Gurney, one of Yankton's most prominent citizens and president of the Meridian Highway Bridge Company which is constructing the bridge, "we began trying to span the Missouri here, but we failed, primarily because our methods were unsound economically. The work was put on by outsiders and was a stock-selling proposition pure and simple. Naturally, those efforts were unsuccessful."

Enthusiasm lagged until June, 1919, when the business men of Yankton decided that it was absolutely imperative that some means be devised whereby the rich territory in Cedar county and other parts of northeastern Nebraska could be opened up to the products and trade of Yankton. Accordingly, on July 5, 1919, the Meridian Highway Bridge Company was incorporated by these business men, for $2,000,000, under the laws of South Dakota. The company has issued also $300,000 worth of first mortgage bonds.

More than three-fourths of the stock and bonds subscribed are credited to citizens of Yankton city and county. But the largest individual holding of stock and bonds together is only $27,000. Yankton is a place of 6,000 population, making an average of approximately $1,500 given by each man, woman and child. However, during this time, bank deposits in Yankton have not decreased and furthermore, not one bank failed there in the recent financial depression that swept over South Dakota.

Work was started October 26, 1920, and the piers were finished in November, 1922. The bridge is of the "Warner" type, double deck, with single railroad track on the first deck, and the upper one for vehicle traffic. The lower deck is now 100 per cent complete. The bridge proper is 1,668 feet long, but the total length of the structure and approaches is 5,863 feet.

The Yankton bridge when completed will be the Missouri river crossing of the Meridian and the Sunshine Highways. At present, there are three railroads on the Yankton side, all of which are considering using the bridge, but as yet, no definite information is available as to which road will take the bridge franchise. A large cement company of Sandusky, Ohio, is expected to open a plant on the north side of the river a few miles above Yankton as soon as the bridge is used for railroad transportation.

It is expected that the bridge will be completed by October 15, at which time a celebration and pageant will be given at Yankton. The governors of Nebraska and South Dakota will officiate at the bridge opening ceremonies and it is expected that many thousands of people from the surrounding states will attend.

Captain Noah a Democrat After Meeting J. W. Davis

Dark Harbor, Islesboro, Me., July 30.—Captain Noah Mighill, veteran fisherman of Dark Harbor, was a dyed-in-the-Maine-woods Republican before meeting John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate. Today the Captain is a dyed-in-the-Maine-woods Davis Democrat.

Captain Noah was the first native to shake hands with the nominee when he arrived from New York for a vacation at Seven Hundred Acres Island. One of Noah's ancestors, Shubael Williams, first settled on Islesboro in 1764.

"Me and Mr. Davis are much alike," said Captain Noah today. "We both smoke a pipe."

The captain stopped counting his years after he passed seventy-nine. He makes his living by fishing in the vicinity of Penobscot Bay and bemoans the fact that the coming of the Summer colony has turned the ancient profession into rum running. Captain Noah says the only way to make the country dry is to drain off the ocean. Noah doesn't run rum up the coast or down his throat. He declares liquor spoils his taste for chewing tobacco.

Captain Noah admits he knows a heap about politics. He has never left Knox County in his life, so has been able to retain his political perspective. "The only thing I'm afeared of," said the captain, "is I'll get elected a United States Senator. Then I'd lose my reputation, surer'n sea gulls have wings."

Captain Noah knew Theodore Roosevelt, the former President, when he spent his last summer vacation here, at Islesboro.

"Teddy was a real rough rider," confided the captain. "I took him out fishing one day when Penobscot Bay was so rough that a dozen islands was bobbin' up and down. You couldn't keep a fish sittin' down in the boat after haulin' them in. But Teddy just stood on his hind legs smoking a strong black cigar and yanking the fish in like so many votes."

Captain Noah says if he can take Mr. Davis fishin,' he'll tell the world whether or not he's going to win the coming election. "You can't fool the fish," said Noah; "they're non-partisan."

Noah assured me he was a sure-fire character detective. "I can tell a New Yorker by the place he carries his money. Now Mr. Davis ain't a New Yorker—he's got a sense of humor. I got a hunch he's runnin' for election 'cause it's good fun. Of course, he wants to win, but if he don't he won't get goose-flesh.

"I was surprised to learn Mr. Davis ain't got a Southern drawl, but speaks most like us Maine folks. He's got a fighting jaw, and that broad forehead of his'n shows he's got more brains than Maine's got rocks."

The captain sees two good omens in connection with the Davis vacation on Seven Hundred Acre Island. Islesboro, its next-door neighbor island, was originally named Long Island. Davis lives in Long Island, N. Y. Also the Tarrantine Indians were the first inhabitants of Seven Hundred Acre Island. The tribe came over from the mainland whenever they wished to elect a new chieftain.

Noah is going to vote Democratic, but believes it will take a lucky break or a smartly directed campaign to put Davis over.

"Even if Mr. Davis is a 'yes' man, President Coolidge ain't a 'no' man. There's a lot of things for Mr. Davis, but there ain't enough agin President Coolidge."

I told Captain Noah of the report up here that Davis was thinking of giving up smoking to aid his voice when he begins his stumping tour.

"Mr. Davis is making a mistake," he said. "His big chance is to try for the pipe-smoking vote, and, along with the powder-puff vote that goes to the 'best lookin' Presidential candidate in history, he's got a fisherman's chance."

POOL OPERATION IN THE STOCK MARKET.

Is not pool operation a menace to security values, and should not the Stock Exchange authorities take a more vigorous action against professional or pool manipulation of stocks?

"Pool operations" is a catch-phrase capable of various interpretation according to its application to different individual cases. There are many kinds of so-called "pools," although the number operating in the market at any given time is as a rule greatly exaggerated. Almost always they are conducted by non-members of the Exchange.

As the term is generally used, it refers to joint speculation by two or more persons in a given security or securities, and with or without an intention to manipulate prices. But in any case, when pool activities occur in the Stock Exchange market, the rules of the Exchange effectually prevent them from being accompanied by fictitious transactions. The buying and selling involved come out publicly on the stock tape, where everyone can see it and make up their own opinion concerning it.

Except in the case of syndicates marketing recently issued securities, the purpose of the "pool" is to gain a difference between the buying and selling price. In consequence, pool operations obey the general economic laws which govern any other kind of speculation. One of the greatest security operators in the history of Wall Street used to say that "Everybody is greater than anybody." No syndicate is strong enough to oppose successfully the vast and powerful "trends" of a national public market like that provided by the Exchange. In consequence, the success of a "pool operation" depends more upon wise foresight as to future economic conditions than upon the mere dead weight of the "pool's" financial resources. If prices are moving up for substantial economic reasons, a pool can often buy cheap and sell out at higher prices with a resultant profit; as far as its purchasing tends to raise prices, this only increases the efficiency of the stock market in more quickly discounting future conditions. But if such an operation is attempted when prices are inevitably falling, the effort is practically foredoomed to failure. Undoubtedly the operations of pools, as of individual speculators, sometimes result in temporarily overhigh prices, but instances of this sort occur in securities whose future value is difficult to estimate, and where hind-sight is vastly easier than fore-sight. An apparently undue advance in price of a "pool stock" quickly leads to selling until the price declines to its more probable value. To be successful pools, like individual speculators, must accomplish that most difficult feat of accurately forecasting the future.

Far from facilitating pool operations of the undesirable and uneconomic sort, the organized securities market is the most important and most effectual check upon them, because of the swift and complete publicity given to transactions within it, and the nation-wide interest which it attracts. The "pool" which attempts to oppose the dominant economic forces in the market simply makes itself a target for security traders all over the country.

It is not the function of a stock exchange to regulate or arbitrarily interfere with prices made upon it, but simply to furnish a free and open market where prices can be made by the public under the fairest and most carefully safeguarded conditions. Provided that the market remains free and open, normal speculative forces will automatically check their own occasional excesses, and interfedence in such processes by the Exchange would be not only uncalled for, but probably harmful to the real interests of the public.

There is a good deal of uncertainty about the future, except for one matter, says the Hutchinson, Kan., Herald. Taxes will be due on the twentieth of November.

Marvin Carmichael, a member of the Pickering team gave out the probable line-up for Sunday's contest:

L. Webb Is New Title Holder Men's Singles

Defeats L. Glenn Yesterday Afternoon in 2-Set Match by Scores of 6-1, 6-1.

The championship in the men's tennis singles of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College again changed hands yesterday, passing over to Leston Webb, a Pattonsburg product. Webb defeated L. Glenn from Martinsville on the College courts yesterday afternoon in rather easy fashion in a two set match by the scores of 6-1, 6-1. The title was won in the spring quarter by John DeMotte who lost in the semi-finals to Glenn and Webb earned his way into the final round by eliminating Shelby on Wednesday afternoon. The new title holder goes to Bethany this fall to assume the duties as athletic director of the Bethany High School.

The Webb-Glenn match was featured by continual slashing, smashing drives by Webb who was uncanny in his placements, and Glenn mixing up his game with lobs and drives. Glenn was somewhat erratic on his service while his opponent was at his top form and served many aces, only losing his service once during the entire two sets.

The new title holder often forced Glenn back into deep court by following his returns and serves up to the net to make a kill. The match was won by the unfailing close placements skimming just over the top of the net on returning Glenn's lobs and drives.

McClain Stable Is Winner of Feature

Flaxy Mae Defeats Very Classy Field In Handicap Event.

(Parnell Review.)

Flaxy Mae, owned by B. F. McClain, Jr., and ridden by Petzoldt, won the feature event at Hastings Park track Wednesday afternoon, the Hudson's Bay Purse of $1000 and silver cup, defeating one of the classiest fields that has faced the starter this season.

Peace Flag, McDonald up, was second and Figuration, Hooper astride, was third.

After remaining in a good position throughout the greater part of the mile and sixteenth, Flaxy Mae jumped into the lead coming down the stretch and won by two lengths.

The Creech entry, consisting of Matinee Idol and Buckhorn II went to the post favorite, Jack Fairman being second public choice.

In most of the events, however, first or second choices came over, with the corresponding average prices. Peace Flag was a surprise when he came place in the feature event and returned $15 for place. Flaxy Mae paid $10.90 for winning tickets.

Tuesday Is Primary Election Day

And it is not only your privilege but it is your duty to go to the primaries and nominate candidates for the several offices of the state and county whom you have every reason to believe beyond a question of doubt are true to name, and who, if elected would be a credit to any community, and for

Sheriff of Nodaway County

Vote for some one you know will have the stamina and ability to enforce the laws, as you well know ease of enforcement, grows with enforcement, and I insist, if I am nominated and elected to the office of sheriff I shall conduct it purely on a business proposition basis, discarding the antiquated ideas of execution and instead employing progressive ideas which, are the crying needs of the times—being used under entirely different circumstances and on these grounds, vote for me for sheriff—try me once, the times require it and the law abiding citizens demand it.

I certainly solicit your support.

Sincerely,

Lou R. Holt
